Goochland County Public Schools is committed to providing all students with an education to assure quality learning and living in the 21st century. Their efforts focus on meeting the intellectual, personal, social, and career preparation needs of all students.

Currently, Goochland County Public Schools has a K-12 enrollment of 2406 with 40 children in pre-kindergarten programs. The K-12 enrollment demographics have changed substantially over the last decade. Historically, the Goochland County Public Schools have been a reflection of the communities they serve. Today, ethnic, economic and racial diversity, increasing population, residents' higher expectations, and high profile accountability are forces that create conditions for continuous change in our community and our schools.

Today there are three elementary schools (Byrd Elementary, Goochland Elementary, Randolph Elementary), one middle school (Goochland Middle School), and one high school (Goochland High School).

Goochland County Public Schools recognizes the value of collaboration with outside partners to ensure that all students have the tools to prepare for tomorrow. The benefits of this type of relationship can be key to providing the programs and services in a way that a school system cannot.

Current Volunteer Needs:

- Coaches to support Robotics and other extra-curricular club activities
- Tutors at all grade levels (all subject specialties are invited; there is a specific need to support developmental writing skills at the middle level)
- Mentors for middle school boys

Community partnerships vary depending on the needs of the specific school involved in the partnership. Interested volunteers are encouraged to contact the principal of the respective school.
